PROTOTYPE: TEST DATA ONLY

Travel and conference request summary

Request	TRV-FY27-0049 · In review
Submitted	Oct 12, 2026, 12:19 AM EDT
Approval route	Your supervisor, your division head, Learning and Development, the Chief Financial Officer, an outside check, the First Deputy Commissioner, and the Commissioner.

Traveler

Name and title	Test admin 1, Prototype tester
Unit	Front Office

Event

Name	2026 Annual Forum
Host	National Emergency Management Association (NEMA)
Where	Statehouse Convention Center, Little Rock, AR
Event dates	October 19, 2026 to October 22, 2026
Website	https://nemaweb.org/forums/nema-annual-forum/
Type of trip	Discretionary conference, long-distance
Away	October 19, 2026 6:12 a.m. to October 22, 2026 12:12 a.m. · 4 work days

Answers

What kind of event is it?	Conference
How would you classify it?	Discretionary conference
Is the event inside the five boroughs?	No
Will this cost the City anything?	Yes
Is anyone other than NYCEM paying any part?	No
Will you receive an honorarium or a gift?	No
Are you presenting?	No
How do you propose to pay for it?	Federal grant: Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI)
Is the grant a targeted grant program?	Yes
Will you stay overnight?	Yes
Is the destination more than 75 miles from your home?	Yes

Costs

Airfare or train fare (American Airlines)	$600.00
Hotel (Little Rock Marriott, 3 nights at $164.00)	$492.00
Meals and incidentals (4 days, City method)	$147.00
Registration	$650.00
Ground transportation	$100.00
Total	$1,989.00
Paid by the City	$1,989.00

Funding	Federal grant: Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI)

Justification

How this relates to your position and the agency

AI draft, confirmed by the employee

The National Emergency Management Association (NEMA) Annual Forum is a national gathering of emergency management leaders from federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial levels. My work at NYCEM directly involves emergency preparedness, response, and recovery, which aligns with the forum's focus on disaster readiness, recovery, mitigation strategies, and related policy.

Attending this forum will allow me to hear from national leaders, share and receive best practices from peer jurisdictions, and build professional relationships with senior officials and partners across the country. These connections and insights support NYCEM's mission to prepare New York City for emergencies and build community resilience. Because disasters increasingly cross jurisdictional boundaries, engaging with the broader national emergency management community is a core part of doing this work effectively.

Benefit to the City

AI draft, confirmed by the employee

Attending the National Emergency Management Association (NEMA) 2026 Annual Forum will bring direct value to New York City. The forum focuses on disaster readiness, recovery, mitigation strategies, and policies affecting survivors and resilient communities. I will gain insights from national emergency management leaders and bring those perspectives back to inform our work here in New York City.

The forum also provides a structured opportunity to connect with state, federal, local, tribal, and territorial emergency management directors and private-sector partners. These relationships support the kind of cross-jurisdictional coordination that New York City depends on before, during, and after major disasters. I will be able to share New York City's own practices with peers while learning innovative approaches from other jurisdictions, strengthening the City's standing in the national emergency management community.

Why this cannot be done in New York City

AI draft, confirmed by the employee

The National Emergency Management Association (NEMA) Annual Forum is held exclusively in Little Rock, Arkansas this year. It is a fixed event organized and hosted by NEMA, and no equivalent version is offered in New York City or the surrounding region.

The forum brings together emergency management directors, senior officials, and partners from across the country in one place. The networking, sessions, and peer exchange it offers depend on that national gathering. There is no local or regional alternative that replicates access to those national leaders and the collaborative discussions the forum is designed to produce.

Benefit to the region in terrorism or all-hazards preparedness

AI draft, confirmed by the employee

Attending the National Emergency Management Association (NEMA) 2026 Annual Forum will benefit New York City and the broader region by connecting me with emergency management leaders and partners from across the country. Sessions will cover disaster readiness, recovery, and mitigation strategies, as well as policies affecting our ability to serve survivors and build resilient communities. Insights gained from these sessions can be applied directly to all-hazards preparedness efforts in New York City.

The forum also provides structured networking with senior officials, state directors, and private-sector partners from federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial levels. These connections support coordinated response and recovery across jurisdictional boundaries, which is critical for a city like New York that relies on regional and national partnerships during complex incidents. Bringing back best practices and innovative approaches from peers across the nation strengthens NYCEM's contribution to regional preparedness.

Support for the targeted grant's objectives

AI draft, confirmed by the employee

Attending the 2026 National Emergency Management Association (NEMA) Annual Forum directly supports the objectives of the targeted grant program. The forum focuses on disaster readiness, recovery, mitigation strategies, and the policies that affect our ability to serve survivors and build resilient communities. These topics align with the core priorities that the grant is designed to advance.

The forum also provides an opportunity to connect with federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial emergency management leaders and partners. I can share localized best practices, learn from national leaders, and explore innovative approaches that I can bring back to apply in New York City. This kind of cross-jurisdictional collaboration is central to the grant's goals and strengthens our ability to prepare for and respond to disasters effectively.

Grant questions

Capabilities	Planning (Federal Core Capabilities) Operational Coordination (Federal Core Capabilities) Mitigation (New York State Critical Capabilities List) Performance gap: Operational coordination during a comms degraded event by bringing in best practices from around the country
State strategy goals	Enhance Citizen and Community Preparedness Enhance Emergency Management and Response Capabilities Become More Resilient Against Future Events Best practices
Plan supported	All Hazards

Event material

nemaweb.org (link, added October 12, 2026)

Approvals

Supervisor	Waiting
Division head	Not reached
Learning and Development	Not reached
Chief Financial Officer (CFO)	Not reached
DHSES sign-off	Not reached
City Hall check	Not reached
First Deputy Commissioner	Not reached
Commissioner	Not reached
Travel Coordinator closes the request	Not reached

Full history

Oct 12, 2026, 12:06 AM EDT. Ben Krakauer: Started the request
Oct 12, 2026, 12:19 AM EDT. Ben Krakauer: Submitted the request and confirmed it is accurate

Each history entry is linked to the one before it in the audit trail, so a change or gap shows.